F. BRUCE GORDON is professor of ecclesiastical history at Yale. He did his doctoral work at St. Andrews University in Scotland, where he was a member of the faculty until coming to Yale. The author of a number of influential scholarly works, he is best known for Calvin (Yale) a biography of the French reformer he published in 2009. His most recent book is John Calvin's Institutes of the Christian Religion—a Biography (Princeton 2016).

BRAD S. GREGORY is a professor of early modern European history at the University of Notre Dame. Educated at the Catholic University of Leuven in Belgium and Princeton (Ph.D.), among other institutions, he is the author of several important scholarly books. But he is best known for The Unintended Reformation—How a Religious Revolution Secularized Society (Belknap/Harvard 2012). His latest book, Rebel in the Ranks: Martin Luther, the Reformation, and the Conflicts That Continue to Shape Our World (Harper One 2017), is scheduled to appear in October.
